Overview

Custodial geospatial data held by the NNTT consists of those datasets necessary to contribute to the statutory functions associated with Registers and other information, in support of the Native Title Act 1993 (Cth).

Whilst these datasets do not form part of the statutory registers, they enable the visualization and ability to search on these matters. Specific custodial datasets established and maintained by the Tribunal are listed below:

- Schedule of Native Title Determination Applications (as per s. 98A NTA – Other public records and information)
 - Claimant
 - Non-claimant
 - Compensation
 - Revised Determination
- Register of Native Title Claims(as per s. 185 NTA- Register of Native Title Claims)
- Determinations of Native Title (as per s. 192 NTA – National Native Title Register)
- Registered & Notified Indigenous Land Use Agreements – (as per s. 24BH(1)(a), s. 24CH and s. 24DI(1)(a))
- Determination Outcomes
- Representative Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Body Areas
- Future act Notices
- Future act Objections
- Future act Determination Applications
- Registered Native Title Bodies Corporate
- Records of s31 Agreements

Spatial records are held for each ‘active’ application/agreement. Once an application/agreement becomes non-active i.e. dismissed, withdrawn; etc., it is transferred to a dataset of historical records.

Where possible, historical/temporal records are also held for each application and agreement, for both archival and temporal analysis operations.

This document contains a brief definition for each geospatial dataset and data dictionary definitions for each dataset.

General information

1. Datasets are referenced to the Geocentric Datum of Australia 2020 and are provided in non-projected geographical coordinates.
2. Data is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International license (CC BY 4.0)
3. Many records associated with native title matters concern areas which are spatially large, and where possible, spatial shapes are constructed to correspond with the written descriptions. Accordingly, shapes may contain 'long lines' that are defined only by their end points. Where spatial data is transformed into a projected coordinate system for the purposes of analysis or other calculations users may wish to add intermediate points in such lines in order to increase spatial integrity in the projected shape.
4. Please note that the attributes and data structure provided may change without notice.

Native Title Determinations

Full Title	Native Title Determinations
Description	How the decision on whether or not native title exists has been determined
Short Name	Determinations
Dataset Name	NTD_Register_Nat

Definition

The National Native Title Register is kept by the Native Title Registrar pursuant to s 192 of the NTA to hold information about approved determinations of native title.

A "determination of native title" is a decision on whether native title exists in relation to a particular area of land or waters (s 225 of the NTA).

Determinations of native title can be made by agreement (consent determination), without opposition (unopposed determination) or following a trial (litigated determination).

An "approved determination of native title" is a determination of native title made by the Federal Court of Australia, the High Court of Australia, or a recognised State/Territory body within its jurisdictional limits (s 13 of the NTA). Only approved determinations of native title are recorded on the National Native Title Register (s 193 of the NTA).

Note: This dataset also includes representations of determinations of native title that have not yet been entered on the National Native Title Register.

Native Title Determination Outcomes

Full Title	Native Title Determination Outcomes
Description	Portions of the determination area categorised as to the existence of native title and other interests
Short Name	Determined Outcomes
Dataset Name	Native_Title_Nat

Definition

An approved determination of native title is made by way of an order of the court pursuant to ss 86, 87 or 87A of the NTA or s 23 of the Federal Court of Australia Act 1976 (Cth). The determination order details whether or not native title exists, and, if native title does exist:

- a) who holds the native title;
- b) the nature and extent of the native title rights and interests;
- c) the nature and extent of other interests in the determination area;
- d) the relationship between the different rights and interests in the determination area; and
- e) the extent to which native title is held to the exclusion of others (s 225 of the NTA).

"Determination outcomes" are extracted from the determination order to broadly categorise the land and waters of the determination area where:

- a) native title does not exist;
- b) native title exists to the exclusion of all others (exclusive);
- c) native title exists but not to the exclusion of all others (non-exclusive); and
- d) native title has been extinguished (extinguished).

Note: Areas depicted in this dataset as "Native title extinguished" are outside of the area subject to the determination. These areas have generally been mentioned in the determination as either:

- having native title extinguished, and/or
- being areas that are excluded from the application, and/or
- not included in the determination area.

Indigenous Land Use Agreements

Full Title	Indigenous Land Use Agreements
Description	Agreements between native title and non-native title parties on managing their interests in the land
Short Name	ILUAs
Dataset Name	ILUA_Registered_Notified_Nat

Definition

An "indigenous land use agreement" (ILUA) is a voluntary, legally binding agreement about the use and management of land or waters, made between one or more native title groups and non-native title interest holders in the ILUA area (such as grantee parties, pastoralists or governments).

The Register of Indigenous Land Use Agreements is kept by the Native Title Registrar in accordance with s 199A of the NTA and includes a description of the ILUA area, the parties' names, the term of the ILUA and other information as the Registrar considers is appropriate (s 199B of the NTA).

Registration confers a contractual effect on the ILUA and binds all persons holding native title regardless as to whether they are already parties to the ILUA (s 24EA of the NTA).

Note: This dataset contains records of ILUAs that have been publicly notified and/or registered.

Future act Notices

Full Title	Future Act Notices
Description	Notices of a government act that may affect native title
Short Name	Future Act Notices
Dataset Name	FA_Notices_Nat

Definition

Before an act is done, which may affect native title, a Government party must issue a notice under s 29 of the NTA ("s 29 notice" or "future act notice"). The notice provides details of the proposed act and specifies a date ("notification date") from which persons have either 3 or 4 months to object to the act or become a native title party with rights to negotiate about the doing of the act.

The NNTT holds information on all current and historical future act notices.

Future Act Objections

Full Title	Future Act Objections
Description	Objections to the application of the expedited procedure to an act that may affect native title
Short Name	Future Act Objections
Dataset Name	FA_Objections_Nat

Definition

A "future act objection" is where a native title party objects to the inclusion of a statement that the act attracts the expedited procedure (s 32 of the NTA). A future act is considered to attract the expedited procedure if the act: it is unlikely to interfere with the native title holders' community or social activities; areas or sites of particular significance; or cause major disturbance to any land or waters concerned (s 237 of the NTA).

The native title party has 4 months from the notification date within which to lodge a future act objection (or an "expedited procedure objection application" (s 75(a) of the NTA).

Future Act Determination Applications

Full Title	Future Act Determination Applications
Description	Applications seeking a decision on whether an act that may affect native title should be done
Short Name	FADAs
Dataset Name	FADA_Nat

Definition

A "future act determination application" (FADA) is a future act application that a negotiation party makes to the Tribunal for a determination that the act must not be done, the act may be done or the act may be done with conditions (s 38 of the NTA).

A FADA cannot be made within 6 months of the notification date nor if an agreement in relation to the act has been made between the negotiation parties (s 35 of the NTA).

The NNTT cannot make a determination in relation to a FADA unless the parties have negotiated in good faith (s 36(2) of the NTA) and it has taken into account the criteria set out in s 39 of the NTA (including effect of the act on the native title parties, the interests and wishes of the native title parties, the economic and other significance of the act to Australia and/or the State or Territory, the public interest in the doing of the act and any other matter the NNTT considers relevant).

Registered Native Title Bodies Corporate

Full Title	Registered Native Title Bodies Corporate
Description	Registered Native Title Bodies Corporate and Prescribed Bodies Corporate
Short Name	RNTBC Areas
Dataset Name	RNTBC_Nat

Definition

RNTBCs (Registered Native Title Bodies Corporate) are corporations which have prescribed functions under the Native Title Act 1993 (NTA) to hold, protect and manage determined native title and ensure certainty for governments and other parties interested in accessing or regulating native title land and waters by providing a legal entity to manage and conduct the affairs of the native title holders. PBCs (Prescribed Bodies Corporate) are established as an interim measure to represent native title owners and their interests until an RNTBC is formally registered.

This dataset shows the boundaries associated with PBCs and RNTBCs where determinations of native title have found native title to exist.

Records of s31 Agreements

Full Title	Records of Section 31 Agreements
Description	Agreement of the parties to the doing of a future act to which the 'right to negotiate' applies
Short Name	Section 31 Agreements
Dataset Name	s31_Agreements_Nat

Definition

Under the Native Title Act, the Registrar must keep a record of section 31 agreements that the Registrar receives from an arbitral body, such as the National Native Title Tribunal. This requirement applies to agreements received on or after 25 March 2021.

A section 31 agreement records the agreement of the parties to the doing of a future act (for example, the grant of a mining tenement) to which the 'right to negotiate' applies. Often some or all of the parties will also enter into another written agreement, known as an 'ancillary agreement.'

The entry for each section 31 agreement must include, to the extent known to the Registrar:

- a) a description of the area of land or waters to which the agreement relates;
- b) the name of each party to the agreement and the address at which the party can be contacted;
- c) if the agreement specifies the period during which it will operate – that period; and
- d) whether or not there is any other written agreement made between some or all of the parties to the agreement in connection with the doing of the act to which the agreement relates.

If a party to the agreement notifies the Registrar that it does not wish some or all of the information to be made available, the Registrar must not make that information available. If there is any change to the information required to be included in the entry, a party to the agreement must notify the Registrar and the Registrar must update the entry to reflect any changes.
