TITLE: National Native Title Tribunal Research Report Bibliographies
Introduction

The Tribunal’s Research Unit prepares bibliographies as a ready reference for anyone wanting to locate readily available, published material about Indigenous Australian people within a particular region or locality. The bibliographies are produced for general library use from reports prepared by the Tribunal for parties to native title mediations. The bibliographies are not exhaustive reference lists about any particular Indigenous group, nor is the published material necessarily an accurate or insightful report of Indigenous society. The Research Unit may update bibliographies from time to time, usually because a new research report has been reproduced for parties to mediation.

It should be noted that the contents and production of these reports are governed by time and resource constraints. They are often prepared in four to eight weeks by a single research officer with some input from a research assistant and Tribunal librarian. Generally most of the references sought for these reports are available only from the AIATSIS library, which in turn has limited resources available to supply material. Therefore care is taken to request only that material which appears relevant to the scope of a particular report.

Disclaimer: The bibliographies are a list of materials that have been used by the Research Unit of the Tribunal to provide background information for native title mediations. The Tribunal forms no view on the accuracy, completeness, or relevance of the reference material cited in these bibliographies. Most of this material is held at libraries and is available to the public. The Tribunal library may be able to assist in locating items.
Barngarla Report

The Barngarla report was prepared by research staff of the National Native Title Tribunal to assist in the mediation of the Barngarla native title application (SC96/004). It was based on publicly and readily available information relevant to the location of the Barngarla group.

Research Method

The research material used for this report is based largely on a search of the AIATSIS online catalogue, Mura, supplemented by relevant references found in Tindale’s 1940 and 1974 texts and Horton’s 1994 map and encyclopaedia.

Additional general references were used:

- Capell’s 1963 Linguistic Survey of Australia;
- Davidson’s 1938 A Preliminary Register of Australian Tribes and Hordes;
- Davis’ 1993 Australia’s Extant and Imputed Traditional Aboriginal Territories;
- Donahue’s 1991 ‘AIATSIS Library Language Names and Community/Established Language Names’;
- O’Grady, Wurm & Hale’s 1966 Aboriginal Languages of Australia: A Preliminary Classification; and
- Sutton’s 1995 Country: Aboriginal Boundaries and Land Ownership in Australia.

Duplicated references were then removed, and the following filtering process was applied. The search of AIATSIS Mura online catalogue of print collection material for the key word Banggarla, Barngala, Bungala, Barngarla produced 43 titles. Sound tapes and film sources are difficult to process given time and resource constraints and they were omitted. Material on microfilm was omitted for the same reason. Foreign language material was also omitted. Also filtered from the list were repetitions of the same material, such as different editions of the same work.

Further filtering took place on examination of the expanded details from the Mura catalogue. Of the final list of print references sought, some have restricted access status and/or were not available on loan from AIATSIS or other sources within the timeframe allowed for this report. Others were dealing with highly technical aspects of language and culture analysis which were not obviously relevant to this report.
