TITLE: National Native Title Tribunal Research Report Bibliographies
Introduction

The Tribunal’s Research Unit prepares bibliographies as a ready reference for anyone wanting to locate readily available, published material about Indigenous Australian people within a particular region or locality. The bibliographies are produced for general library use from reports prepared by the Tribunal for parties to native title mediations. The bibliographies are not exhaustive reference lists about any particular Indigenous group, nor is the published material necessarily an accurate or insightful report of Indigenous society. The Research Unit may update bibliographies from time to time, usually because a new research report has been reproduced for parties to mediation.

It should be noted that the contents and production of these reports are governed by time and resource constraints. They are often prepared in four to eight weeks by a single research officer with some input from a research assistant and Tribunal librarian. Generally most of the references sought for these reports are available only from the AIATSIS library, which in turn has limited resources available to supply material. Therefore care is taken to request only that material which appears relevant to the scope of a particular report.

Disclaimer: The bibliographies are a list of materials that have been used by the Research Unit of the Tribunal to provide background information for native title mediations. The Tribunal forms no view on the accuracy, completeness, or relevance of the reference material cited in these bibliographies. Most of this material is held at libraries and is available to the public. The Tribunal library may be able to assist in locating items.

Darumbal People Report

The Darumbal People report was prepared by research staff of the National Native Title Tribunal to assist in the mediation of the Darumbal people’s native title application (QC97/21). This report was based on publicly and readily available information relevant to the traditional location of the Darumbal people.

Research Method

The research material reviewed in this report that concerns Darumbal was based largely on a search of the AIATSIS online catalogue, Mura, using the key word ‘Darumbal’. This was supplemented by relevant material and further references found in Tindale’s (1974) Aboriginal Tribes of Australia listing of ‘Darumbal’

Additional material concerning Darumbal, or that appeared relevant to Darumbal, was found in the following ‘general’ references and was also reviewed and included in this report:

- Davidson, D.S. 1938, A Preliminary Register of Australian Tribes and Hordes;
- Davis, S. 1993, Australia’s Extant and Imputed Traditional Aboriginal Territories (map only);
Bibliography

- Donohue, M. 1991, ‘AIATSIS Library Language Names and Community/Established Language Names’;
- Ehrlich, L. 1922, Origins of Australian Beliefs (map);
- Frazer, J.G. 1910, Totemism and Exogamy: A treatise on Certain Early Forms of Superstition and Society (map);
- Horton, D. 1994, Encyclopaedia of Aboriginal Australia;
- Howitt, A.W. 1904-1996, The Native Tribes of South-East Australia;
- Oates, W.J. & L.F. 1970, A Revised Linguistic Survey of Australia (including the 1973 supplement);
- O’Grady, Wurm & Hale, 1966, Aboriginal Languages of Australia: A Preliminary Classification (map);
- Tindale, N.B. 1940, ‘Distribution of Australian Aboriginal Tribes: A Field Survey’;
- Tindale, N.B. 1974, Aboriginal Tribes of Australia; and

The following ‘filtering’ process was then applied. Of references listed on Mura only those listed as part of the ‘print collection’ were followed up, as sound tapes and film would be difficult to process given time and resource constraints. Material on microform and foreign language material was omitted for the same reason. All (non-duplicated) references listed under Tindale (1974) were followed up.
